The Yankers and the Stolen Negroes.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Express gives a dismal picture of the condition of the unfortunate negroes who have been forced or lured to quit the protection of their masters and the comforts of their homes. The doom of these poor creatures, here foreshadowed only, is truly deplorable. The writer says:

Now that the weather is growing cool, the question naturally arises, what is to be done with the numerous contrabands in Washington and vicinity this winter? Will the poor wretches be permitted to starve or freeze to death, or will the government undertake to protect and provide for them? Their present condition, even before cold weather has set in, is miserable and abject in the extreme. What it is likely to be a couple of months hence, it is not difficult to imagine. Hundreds of the contrabands here have already quite enough of liberty and abolition philanthropy. They would gladly return now to their masters or mistresses, but they have no power to do so, and, indeed, are not permitted any opportunity to carry such desire into effect.

This morning a stout negro, rigged up in cast off army clothing, came to a door where I was standing, and entreated to be given a "job"—anything by which he could earn a meal of victuals. I questioned this man, and found he was from Frederickburg, having belonged to a well known lady of that town. Barry (the negro) had for several years "hired his time" from his mistress, and was getting along very well as a carter. In an evil hour he determined to turn "contraband," and come to Washington, bringing a hundred dollars in silver—his savings. This hard earned money is now all gone, and Jerry himself, sadly out at elbows and toes, humbly begs a little employment at sewing wood to postpone starvation. He is very anxious to go home; but according to his own statement, is not allowed to do so. He may not among the philanthropic abolitionists, but cannot be permitted to "return to slavery." This is one instance out of many which have fallen under my observation, and of thousands which undoubtedly exist in this city. What have the abolition fanatics to say to it? What remedy do they expect others to apply?

We clip the following paragraphs from the Cleveland (Tenn.) Banner, of Oct. 30th:

Butter, in this market, commands only 75 cents per pound, and eggs 75 cents per dozen, and every other staple sells in about the same proportion. At such figures a hearty man can consume $20 worth of provisions per month, and not live on the fat of the land at that.

Corn.—The price of this article rules in this market at $1.50 cents per bushel, and hard to get at that. The patriotic and philanthropic holders of the article, want to keep their grip upon it until they can let it slide at $4 or $5 per bushel, to soldiers wives and children.

Speaking of what the Democrats will do if restored to power, the Louisville Democrat says:

They will put down the rebellion in spite of the radicals, who will soon begin to oppose the war, because it does not go their way; and the task will be all the easier now, inasmuch as the Southern people will see that they have been mistaken in the Northern people; that they have nothing to gain by war, and nothing to fear in abandoning the rebellion.

The reports from Nashville are meagre. Forrest with a large force invades the city from every side. There are daily skirmishes, which supply our boys with amusement under more extensive operations begin. General Breckinridge is busy organizing the army department at Murfreesboro'—Chattanooga (Tenn.) Rebel, Nov. 4.

Gen. Wool Boasting the Patriots with their own Medicine.

Some of the "rebels" of Lincoln, who have lately been profoundly astonished at the manner in which their unpersuadable zeal has been rewarded, like McClellan, is one of the "traitors" in high position, and it is now the "fury" to bring him to justice. But the General does not seem to mind matters with his assailants. He treats them to the regimen which they seek to apply to him, as to other "rebels." Rev. Mr. Hay, of Harpersburg, signified his great zeal by an attack on Wool, and soon found himself in prison in Baltimore. A great mass meeting of "Union men" was assembled in Baltimore on the 28th, to take depositions and collect testimony to prove Wool's guilt. The following tells what happened to them:

The committee reported that they had summoned a large number of persons to testify in regard to these matters, and had taken 96 affidavits of respectable men, proving an enormous amount of disloyalty on the part of persons in high position; that they had prepared a brief of the evidence, which, with the affidavits they had laid before the President; that, owing to pre-occupation, no action had been taken on the papers, which were afterwards transmitted to the President. Before the report of the Committee was concluded, the meeting was broken up by the sudden appearance of Major-General Jones and other officers of Gen. Wool's Staff and a Company of soldiers, who seized upon the members of the committee and arrested them. The members of the committee present, viz: Thomas H. Gardner, Clerk of the Criminal Court, Col. Thomas Q. Rich, aid to the Governor, Alfred Evans and Thomas Swallow. Although no resistance was made to the arrest, one of the arresting officers drew his revolver. The meeting consisted of the first Union men of the city. It is not known where the prisoners were taken. Other prominent persons were present, but escaped arrest. The affair has caused much excitement.

New York Election—Bloody Time Expected.

We have papers from the United States as late as to the 30th ult. From the Baltimore American, of that date we take the following:

"CONCENTRATION OF TROOPS AT NEW YORK." "New York, Oct. 29.—The 21st Maine regiment was stopped between here and Philadelphia and sent back to Fort Schuyler, in this harbor. The 24th Maine is expected here to-morrow, to go no further. Several other regiments from the East will also be detained here."

The meaning of the above is, that the New York election takes place this day, and the bayonets of the Administration have been deemed necessary to help out the result. The gentlemen who brought the paper from which we have quoted, says that bloody scenes were expected at the polls.

The Democrats have resolved to maintain their rights by arms if need be, and to put down these "rebels" Lincoln's employing troops raised to operate against "rebels" of another sort and farther North.

Northern News.

We gather the following items from Northern papers of the 30th:

The correspondent of the New York "Times" sends a long account of the battle of Pocotaligo. The expedition consisted of the commands or portions of them of Brigadier Generals Brannon and Ferry, the former commanding. This large expedition was intended as a surprise and the object was to destroy the trolley-work bridges of the Charleston and Savannah Railroad. The writer speaks of their success in driving the "rebels," but admits a failure of their design. They heard trains running and supposing that reinforcements were coming they retreated.

The Baltimore "American" is very much exercised over the arrest of the Baltimore traitor strikers, by Gen. Wool. It says they have been carried off in a steamer—where, not known. There was much excitement at the wharf when they left.

The National "Intelligencer" publishes the conversation between Lincoln and the Border State Congressmen as justifying its "surprise" at the President's present war policy.

The Iowa election proves to have been very closely contested—the Republican majority about a thousand.

A Washington letter writer sends indications of more Indian troubles in the Northwest, and says "there is cause of serious apprehension that the difficulties are not so fully settled as late events seemed to indicate."

From a Fortress letter of October 29th, we learn the following:

Information having been sent yesterday to Maj. Gen. Dix that a mutiny had broken out on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, he immediately ordered the army gunboat Westend, commanded by Captain J. C. Lee, of the 9th Regiment New York Volunteers, to proceed there to quell the same peacefully if he could, forcibly if he must. It appears from the facts, as obtained from Gen. Dix, that Colonel Wilkins' Maryland Regiment, numbering about six hundred men had been organized for the express purpose of doing duty in its own State, and ever since its organization has been guarding the railroads and other service within the State as was ordered. General Wool, however, ordered the regiment to proceed to Eastville, on the Eastern Shore, against the wishes of the officers and men, and contrary to the agreement of the organization of the corps. Two of the companies refused to land, and openly mutinied against the government hence the measures adopted by Gen. Dix. As the Westend has not yet returned, I cannot state any result thus far.

News From McClellan's Army.

A dispatch from the Potomac, October 28th, says:

The correspondent who furnished the Baltimore American with the account of the capture of the gunboat Westend, was arrested by the military authorities yesterday, the information having been highly contraband.

It is believed that Gen. Lee is on his way from Cumberland Gap to join Lee in the Valley.

Contrabands who have come within our lines on the Upper Potomac, report that the Rebel Generals Jackson and Longstreet, were yesterday moving towards Berryville from the direction of Charleston.

The enemy are still thought to be in force immediately in front.

To day a large number of civilians who had been arrested for disloyal practices, were sent to Baltimore. Among them was the Rev. Mr. Douglas, of Sharpsburg, who is charged with signaling to the enemy and otherwise giving them information.

As parties representing themselves to be refugees from Virginia have communicated important information to the enemy, most stringent orders have been issued relative to them. No civilian will hereafter be allowed to cross the river at all, unless for the prosecution of business with the military authorities.

Yesterday morning the females of a small village in Loudon county stoned our cavalry, and applied to them the most abusive epithets.

The parties arrested in Harper's Ferry last week for passing counterfeit money are to be turned over to the U. S. Marshal for Maryland.

A dispatch dated the same evening says:

The Rebel pickets under Gen. Walker, at Upperville, were driven from that place yesterday afternoon. The infantry were said to have marched to Snicker'sville, their intention evidently being to escape to the right of the Blue ridge Mountains by way of Snicker's Gap.

The Rebels have destroyed a portion of the railroad leading from Charleston to Winchester.

An aid to the Longstreet, who was paying a visit to Fairfax, was taken prisoner to-day.

THE REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON.

The Washington Star of Thursday evening says that Gen. Burnside has already advanced toward the eastern base of the Blue Ridge, and formed a practical junction with General Sigel, their lines of pickets joining.

The Rebels continue to occupy the ridge between Harper's Ferry and Winchester, on which Lee posted his army after crossing into Virginia. We believe he is moving as far as he can, as Burnside and Fitz John Porter have already defeated his probable scheme of attempting to surprise Sigel.

To cover it promptly he will have to move backwards towards Richmond, Va.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD.

BY TELEGRAPH.

From the West.

A special dispatch to the Register & Observer, dated Holly Springs, the 5th, says:

The enemy have advanced in force to Lagrange, Tennessee, and are reported as advancing on this place.

Jackson's Cavalry had a skirmish to-day at Lamar. It is probable that the enemy will give us battle as they are about to make strenuous efforts to open the Mississippi by land force under McClellan. He will be supported on land by Grant and on the river by gunboat flotilla. The prospect of recognition is hurrying them.

Explosion of a Manufactory.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 5.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this evening the building used as a Cartridge Manufactory, having a large amount of powder stored in it, exploded with a fearful concussion. Of its occupants, boys, girls and young ladies, not the escaped. In the confusion and excitement it is impossible to learn the number killed, certainly not less than thirty, and it may yet over reach that number. Cause of the explosion unknown.

Northern News.

Richmond, Nov. 6.

Northern dates to the 4th inst., have been received. The steamer Alabama (390) has been capturing more Yankee vessels. Her last appearance was in late time 39 North, longitude 69 west of Cape Delaware and directly in track of the California steamers.

The stock market remains unchanged. Gold closed at 130.

Later news from Europe is published. Sir G. C. Lewis the British Secretary of War, had made a speech in which he said that the war in America would before long come to an end, but it must be admitted to be undecided and until the Northern States are exhausted and incapable of continuing the contest it could not be said that the independence of the Southern States had been established.

Paris correspondents say that the Emperor, at the last ministerial council, overruled the portion of ministry favorable to immediate recognition, by expressing a determination to wait until the 1st of January and the issue of Lincoln's Proclamation.

From Nashville.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 31.

It is stated by several gentlemen who left Murfreesboro' on the 29th that Breckinridge had given Gen. Negley two days in which to remove the women and children from Nashville. At the expiration of this period, Nashville is to be surrendered or sacked and burned.

Gen. John Morgan is said to be on the North and Forrest on the South of Nashville. Breckinridge is at Laverne. Morgan has about thirteen pieces of artillery.

Breckinridge and Forrest have about 60 pieces of artillery.

Several ladies have left Nashville. The Yankees did not even inspect their baggage. Permits to leave were readily granted by the Abolition authorities.

[We give the above seemingly well authenticated statements for what they are worth.]
